HURST & BLACKETT'S NEW WORKS.

MR. L'ESTRANGE'S NEW WORK.

Now ready, in 2 vols., crown 8vo, 21s.

THE FRIENDSHIPS of MARY

RUSSELL MITFORD: as Recorded in Letters from her Literary Correspondents. Edited by the Rev. A. G. L'ESTRANGE, Editor of the "Life of Mary Russell Mitford," and Author of the "Life of the Rev. Mr. Howitt."

Among other persons whose letters are recorded in these volumes are—Lady Ducas, the Duke of Devonshire, Lord St. Germans, Lord Holland, Sir William Elford, Dean Milman, Rev. A. Dyce, Mrs. Trollope, Mrs. Hofland, Mrs. S. C. Hall, Mrs. Jameson, Mrs. Opie, Mrs. Clive, Mrs. Hemans, Miss Edgeworth, Miss Strickland, Miss Marlineau, Miss Barrett, Miss De Morgan, Miss J. C. Smith, Miss Lorden, Miss Sedgwick, Joanna Baillie, William Cobbett, Wm. Howitt, K. G. Lumsden, Sir George Grey, Sir George Landor, Elliot Warburton, Harry Corwall, John Huskin, Tom Taylor, Sergeant Talfourd, Crabbe Robinson, Charles Young, Digby Starkey, Bayard Taylor, George Darley, George Ticknor, N. P. Willis, the Howitts, the Howitts.

"To have been a friend of Mary Russell Mitford is, as paraphrasing the language of Steele, a liberal education. As a correspondent, Miss Mitford was hardly inferior to Cowper, her faculty being derived from her mother, whose letters are valuable specimens of easy, confidential, sympathetic communication. These letters are all written in her mother's hand, and express love and reverence. Miss Barrett is one of Miss Mitford's correspondents, all of whom seem to be inspired with a sense of excellence in the mind they are invoking. Their letters are extremely interesting, and they strike out recollections, opinions, criticisms, which will hold the reader's delighted and serious attention."—Daily Telegraph.

"The author of 'The Friendships of Mary' has produced a book, Miss Mitford is painted, not in letters of her own, nor in letters written of her, but in letters addressed to her; and a true idea is thus conveyed of her beauty, her disposition, and of the impression she made upon her friends. It seldom happens that anyone, however distinguished, receives such a number of letters well worth reading as were addressed to Miss Mitford; and the letters from her correspondents are not only from interesting persons, but are in themselves interesting."—St. James's Gazette.

SECOND EDITION, at all the Libraries, in 3 vols.

THE BRANDRETHS.

By the Right Hon. A. J. B. BERESFORD-HOPE, M.P.

Author of "Strictly Tied Up."

"The Brandreths" is a pleasant book to read. It is an unusual treat to the reader of novels to find himself in the company of a man of the world, who is also a man of wide knowledge and culture, and one who possesses the power of writing with ease and with point. Mr. Hope's pictures of society and his analyses of character are all excellent. The political sketches and anecdotes are also well told. In "The Brandreths," as in "The Brandreths," we have a sequel to Mr. Beresford-Hope's clever novel of 'Strictly Tied Up,' and we may add that it is a decided improvement on his maiden effort. Mr. Hope writes of political life and the vicissitudes of parties with the knowledge and experience of a veteran politician. Not a few of the casual pictures of society are exceedingly faithful and lively. We repeat, in conclusion, that the novel is one which will repay careful reading."—Times.

RED RYVINGTON. By William WESTALL, Author of "Larry Lohengrin," &c. 3 vols.

GABRIELLE de BOURDAINE.

By Mrs. JOHN KENT SPENDER, Author of "Godwin's Ordeal," "Both in the Wrong," &c. 3 vols.

"Gabrielle de Bourdaine" is a pleasant story in its quiet and simple way. It is readable and attractive."—Athenaeum.

"This novel is deeply interesting. There are many passages which would make the reputation of a novelist. Gabrielle is drawn with a powerful pen, and is a delightful study."—Scotsman.

NEW BABYLON.

By Paul Meritt and W. HOWEL POOLE. 3 vols.

"This is a well-written and graphic story, and follows an exciting and successful succession."—Daily Telegraph.

"'New Babylon' will attract attention at the libraries, where an exciting story is always welcome. The tale hurries along from one stirring incident to another, and compels the reader to admire the inventive power of the writers and their ingenuity in weaving a complicated series of incidents."—Evening Standard.

SAINT and SIBYL.

By C. L. FIRKIS, Author of "A Very Opal," "Wanted, an Heir," &c. 3 vols.

"'Saint and Sibyl' there are some excellent pieces of writing, some touches of poetical art, some highly dramatic scenes, some pretty and pathetic pictures."—St. James's Gazette.

THE MERCHANT PRINCE.

By JOHN BURWICK HARWOOD, Author of "Lady Flavia," "The Tenth Earl," &c. 3 vols.

"This story is pleasantly told."—Athenaeum.

A GOLDEN BAR.

By the Author of "CHRISTINA NORTH," "UNDER the LIMES," &c. 3 vols.

"Just ready."

he stimulates and refreshes us; he expresses his own genuine appreciation in language which is always pure and simple, and sometimes forcible."—Westminster Review.

"In the Lectures before us there are two things which command the attention and admiration of the reader—firstly, the wide range and keen accuracy of the criticism; and, secondly, the beauties of the author's

AN ETYMOLOGICAL DICTIONARY of the ENGLISH LANGUAGE. By the Rev. WALTER W. SKEAT, M.A., Cambridge.

"Here a book which will make all students of English glad. Its plan includes exactly those kinds of information which they need. . . . Not only suited for literary use, but also for the necessary study of English, for the best study of it is to turn to it for the etymological meaning of the words of language."

"In carrying out his plan, Professor Skeat has done wonders. His wide erudition and his minute accuracy are visible on every page."—Professor F. A. MARSH, in the Independent.

"Indispensable to all who would study the English language and its origin scientifically and historically."—Athenaeum.

"The book before us, now happily completed, is the greatest stride yet made in English etymology. . . . It is long since so valuable a work appeared, or one so indispensable to every student of our language."—Notes and Queries.

THE ELEMENTS of JURISPRUDENCE.

By THOMAS ERSKINE HOLLOWELL, D.C.L., of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law, Chinese Professor of International Law and Diplomacy, and Fellow of All Souls' College, Oxford.

"The Professor of International Law has produced just that kind of guide to jurisprudence which has long been needed both by trained lawyers and by students, and has, in fact, superseded Austin's treatise."—Law Magazine and Review.

"Supplies just what Austin fails to give. . . . Will, we fully anticipate, mark our words in this study of legal subjects."—Quarterly Review.

"Professor Hollowell has done something on having done a piece of work that is much called for. . . . The work will, for law students' purposes, be a great improvement on Austin. Though considerably less bulky, it is more complete, more symmetrical, and more intelligible."—Saturday Review.

"The scientific study of law has made considerable progress in England of late years, and the remarkable work before us will probably form a distinct and important part in its advance."—Speaker.

"Ce livre est une véritable encyclopédie qui ne peut manquer d'obtenir un grand succès dans le monde scientifique."—Journal de Droit international privé.
